

How Flamingo Goes Dating

Kamil the Flamingo was in love. He had lost his head and little pink heart to the lovely eyes of a girl flamingo called Matilda. Ouch-ee! Matilda was as proud as a princess, and she didn't care for Kamil at all.

She thought him too ordinary. She wanted someone better and more obviously interesting. Something special. So, in search of a way to please his chosen one, the long-legged Flamingo set off into the world.

This time, conceited Matilda would have fallen for Kamil. But before she got the chance, Kamil met Wendy, who gave him a lovely smile. She pulled off the peacock feathers and said, "I like you just as you are, Kamil."

Pink as a flamingo is born to be. Because this, kids, is true love. Wendy and Kamil fell into each other's wings. How happy they were — because they loved each other, and together they could be who they truly were. Just flamingos.

Just imagine, kids! Kamil the Flamingo is so much in love that he wishes to ask his chosen one for her hand — ahem, claws — in marriage. But there's one problem: the girl of his heart is rather proud. So, what can Kamil do to please her? Should he try on the coats of other animals? The black and white suit of a zebra or the spotted wing-cases of a ladybird, let's say? Yes — what a great idea! Will Kamil succeed in winning the heart of his beloved? To find out, read the story of Kamil in love and learn a little about animals' typical 'clothing'. The world of Kamil the Flamingo, with charming illustrations by Daniela Olejníková, is here for you to discover. So what are you waiting for?
